A Place For The Lawyer

An old gent had just won a case in the justice court, when the lawyer, in a very convulsive frame of mind, exclaimed:
"I'll law you to the circuit court."
Old Gent—"I'll be there."
Lawyer—"And I'll law you to the supreme court."
Old Gent—"I'll be there."
Lawyer—"I'll law you to 'ell!"
Old Gent—"My attorney'll be there!"

The Campaign

Several meetings have been conducted during this week by Mr.
James H. Fisher, socialist orator, of Calgary, on behalf of the workers. Mr. Fisher has been endeavoring to show to the workers
the "fallacies" of the proposed prohibition act, which he claims is framed by the church and temperance element of the Province.
In all his meetings he has allowed the opposition to present their cause, and some very sound arguments have resulted. On Sunday evening a meeting was held at the Workers' hall, Bellevue, where
Mr. David Lewis, of Calgary, appeared for the temperance element. At Frank on Monday night Mr. Fisher invited a speaker to oppose him, and was met by Rev. Thomas Hart, of Hillcrest.
The large audience enthusiastically applauded both speakers and the lectures throughout were most interesting. Before closing Mr.
Fisher expressed his appreciation of a strong opponent, claiming that Mr. Hart was of a far different character to other supporters of temperance who dared to oppose his ideas. Both speakers met again at Blairmore on Tuesday night, and were again greeted by a crowded house. Mr. Fisher spoke for slightly over two hours, during which time everyone appeared to be intensely interested in the manner in which he outlined the possible effect of the proposed prohibition upon the working class, and in his explanation of the failure of the individuals responsible for the drafting of the "huge fallacy." Mr.
Hart was given the platform for ten minutes and was repeatedly stormed with vociferous cheering.
Mr. Hart's arguments are strong and to the point. He evidently does not seem to circle around the world to arrive at the goal of his argument. His arguments are so convincing as to elicit the endora-tion and praise of even those who are interested in the liquor traffic.
Last night a debate took place in the opera house at Coleman. Mr.
Hart taking the affirmative and Mr. Fisher the negative. The audience could not accommodate the people who crowded around to hear the arguments for and against the proposed Act. Not in the history of The Pass has a debate of such interest been conducted. Both sides of the question were strongly presented and neither of the speakers seemed to lack the ability to defend any particular points. Mr. J. Johnson, deputy-mayor of the town of Coleman, presided at the meeting, and the bet order was maintained throughout.

NOTICE—On Wednesday afternoon
next, July 21st, from 3 to 8 o'clock, Mrs.
Mark Drumming will give a tea in aid

Drumming issues a hearty invitation to the people in all of the Pass towns to be present there next Wednesday afternoon next.

Mrs. Drumming asks us to acknowledge through our notes the amount of $12.00

campment No. 8 will be installed
by District Deputy Green at a special meeting to be held in the L.O.O.F. hall on Tuesday night
next, following the regular meeting of the subordinate lodge.

The inquiry into Alberta oil companies opened at Calgary on Tuesday and was adjourned till August 18th, owing to the fact that details are lacking in the majority of complaints made. During adjustment all cases complained of
will be gone into and further details sought from complainants.

For and Against

Jose Willard says liquor is an unnecessary evil. Tom Jones thinks the same thing when it is his turn to buy a round.

Under the Act a vendor of the booze
may sell to a druggist only a pint at a time, but to a vet. one gallon. Is it because the framers of the Act thought that the vet. would be sure to be vet.— Northern News.

I am opposed to prohibition because prohibition is opposed to temperance.
Every argument in favor of prohibition is an argument against temperance and every argument in favor of temperance
is an argument against prohibition.—J.
B. Osborne.

The last advertisement the prohibition cause have is the liquor advertisements, for the more they say the more side of the mark they get for they can never hope to convince anybody by the rubbish they are trying to ram down the public throat.—Vulcan Advocate.

The Sydney Post of July 8th states that several cases of drunken women had been observed on the streets there in one week,
and that apparently the imposition of licensing laws does not have the desired effect.
Sydney is a part of one of the prohibition districts of Nova Scotia, where even the open house system can either approach
the open house system or obtain the goals through the illicit system. Under the licensed system of Alberta children,
or even youths, cannot obtain liquor;
yet in spite of the knowledge of this fact
some of those who oppose the present liquor system are not backward in quoting the dangers that surround the boy.
When the boy reaches the mature age of twenty-one years he is expected to harbor
the intelligence necessary for self-control, he is considered capable of casting an intelligent vote, etc., but the temperance people desire to enervate upon these privileges and deprive him of even this right; and it is felt by the liquor people that the prohibitionists are successful in their present campaign they will go still further and try to prohibit our young men from smoking tobacco, or kissing
their sweethearts except in the presence of the girl's parents.

As a matter of fact, our present license
act is a success through the treating system, and there is need for reform in that direction. Most of the so-called drunkards of today are not of those who spend money over the bar, but who lounge around our licensed houses to be treated by their so-called friends. Some feel that this could be remedied by reducing the number of our licensed houses. We feel positive that the fewer houses would create more drunks, because these "habituals" would have the opportunity of imposing their presence upon a greater number of "friends" at any one time, when drinks would come faster and have swifter effect.

Much has been said from the platform
regarding the drunkards who are gathered up from the gutters being such an enormous percentage of our population,
while police statistics of the Crows' Nest Pass show that such cases are few and far between, and that in every case they are the direct result of the treating system. Why not amend the Act to restrict any person from buying a drink for those who are known to be slaves to the free system, and cancel the license of the bartender who serves a drink to an individual already suffering from the effects of over-indulgence.

We know from experience that under the proposed act the government will benefit from increased revenue on account of the illicit traffic. We know of one case where some years ago the sum of $150 annually was paid to the government as a license for one establishment, and that since the introduction of the prohibitory measure as high as $1250
came into the hands of that government
in four months from fines and forfeitures
on account of the illicit traffic in liquor.
In that same district the establishments
known as "blind-pigs" are filthy dens,
generally the living quarters of poverty,
squalor, and even places where it would be difficult to procure a drink of any kind in a pure state, where strong drinks are adulterated by the steepings of tea and tobacco, and where one has to swallow something more than the liquor and pure atmosphere. Under the present system in Alberta, any man may feel free to enter the front door of a licensed bar, where he expects and does obtain right service, a service approved of and legitimized by the government and people of the province. Under prohibition one would be obliged to evade the vigilance of the police or detectives, who will be employed by the government for services all over the province. Detectives will be necessary, where under the present system the licensed victuallers naturally must conduct their own detective work for self protection and at no cost to the government whatever.

We say again, there is room for reform,
but it should be absolute reform as far as the liquor traffic is concerned.

The above represents the arguments raised by the liquor people against the proposed liquor act. Some of them are strong and well worth considering.

"Drink it dry, drink it dry,
John Barleycorn must die,
Drink it dry, drink it dry"
Then hear the other angels say
"Alberta's dry—so am I!" (Gly Putnam, the Poet Laureate of the
C. S. Pass.)

Qualifications of Voters in Plebiscite

Many people seem uncertain as to who may and who may not vote on the referendum on the liquor act on July 21st. The following synopsis from the Alberta Election Act applies to this vote, and will clear up any doubts on the matter.

Any elector may only vote at the polling station of the polling division in which he is a resident at the time of voting.

Figures don't lie, but liars figure.—JAMES H. FORD

We must resent the action of some anti-prohibitionists in tearing down or defacing a bulletin board erected on private property by supporters of the prohibition movement. Such an act will do more to help the cause of prohibition in Blairmore than all other efforts combined.

It is a hundred years since the Treaty of Ghent ended the last war between the British Empire and the United States of America; for a full century two great powers, with interests which occasionally conflicted and with tempers which were not invariably conciliatory, have lived at peace and in steadily increasing goodwill. Plans were set on foot to celebrate this great event, and had not Fate—and Germany—willed otherwise, this summer would have seen a celebration of great magnitude and of exceptional interest and value. But the war came. Canadians are leading all their energies, and devoting all their thoughts to the work of fighting for the British Empire, and our friends of the United States have been confronted with anxieties and absorbing problems. In these circumstances, therefore, for a great commemoration of the First Century of Peace between the Great Empire and the Great Republic had to be reconsidered.

Those in charge of the movement, after consulting the leading men connected with it in both Canada and the United States, decided on a modified programme. The aspect of the plans which contemplated public rejoicing has been postponed, but those portions of the larger portions, it should be said—of the plans, which laid emphasis on education and on the cultivation of a reasonable frame of mind in the conduct of international relations are being prosecuted. The public rejoicings are only postponed, and the organizations formed to carry out the commemoration were encouraged to continue their work of preparation and education, so that when the day of peace and victory has crowned the British and allied forces, fitting festivities will be held. These festivities are likely to be all the more impressive in view of the fact that we shall be celebrating not only the conclusion of a century of peace with our neighbors but the overthrow of those forces which have, for so many years, menaced the peace of the whole world.

The Canadian Peace Centenary Association—which, by the way, is not and never has been a "Peace Society"—has just issued a pamphlet which sheds an interesting light on the temper prevailing between the Canadian and American peoples. The ratification of the Treaty of Ghent took place on February 17th, 1815, and on the centenary date, great numbers of messages were exchanged between the President of the Canadian Peace Centenary Association, Sir Edmund Walker, and the Governors of the States; between cities and towns on both sides of the line; between Boards of Trade, and even between individual firms and their correspondents across the border. These are printed in the pamphlet, and bear witness to a cordiality of spirit which affords a welcome contrast to the dark animosities which make other continents so dreadful a spectacle to-day.

These messages display a wonderful unanimity of conviction, and it may be added that many of those from the neighboring Republic convey the heartiest good wishes for the success of our cause. Another feature of the pamphlet is the description of the services held on Sunday, February 14th, in an extraordinary number of churches in both countries.

The public celebrations of this triumph of reasonableness and goodwill should be one of the earliest events after the conclusion of the present dreadful struggle. The Canadian Peace Centenary Association, and its corresponding body in the United States, the American Peace Centenary Committee, have made all the necessary preparations, and it is to be hoped that their work will be crowned with success.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Putnam returned from Medicine Hat and Lethbridge on Sunday night.

A prohibition meeting was held in the Workers' hall, on Sunday evening, the speaker being Mr. David D. Lewis, of Calgary.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Peck, of Glenholm. After a few opening remarks from the chairman, he introduced Mr. Lewis and also made it known that Mr. James Fisher, of Calgary, would speak for thirty minutes after Mr. Lewis.

Mr. Lewis gave a very good address along the lines of prohibition, and had lots of data to back up his statements. At the close of his address Mr. Fisher was introduced.

Mr. Fisher is one of the ablest speakers in the West on Socialism, but a poor exponent on the question taken up on Sunday night. Socialism and booze make a poor mixture.

On Sunday last some twenty-five Oregonians set at their lodge room and paraded to the Presbyterian church, where a very impressive service was held. Rev. Mr. Chalmers conducted the service and gave some very good points on why, and how the Order was first organized and is still in existence. After the service the order proceeded to the cemetery, where the graves of deceased members were decorated with flowers. Visiting members from the Porcupines and Mountain Hill districts were present with a number of their friends.

At the beginning of the war, Michael Burghman, of Frank, was called home as a reservist and entered the firing line on the 4th of August. On October 13th he was wounded and sent to the hospital, where he remained for two and a half months, after which he was sent back to the firing line until this spring. He was wounded in the hip and while lying on the battlefield a bomb exploded near him, burning his neck and shoulder very badly. It was included home and arrived in Frank about a month ago. He is now out on a ranch near Cowley trying to regain some of his lost color and strength, and says he would go back to the firing line again, should it be possible, but he would be of no use there now. Give him a cheer for his work and courage.

Frank must be regarded as somewhat. Why, even the Blaimore Red Cross had to come here to sell their box buttons.

The business men of Frank promise to look after the shipping of the shell for our gun to be furnished by the joint efforts of Blaimore and Coleman.

A Red Cross tea will be served at Mrs. Drumm's residence on Wednesday evening next from 8 to 8 o'clock. All are invited.

Remember the prohibition rally in the Blaimore opera house on Sunday afternoon. Miss Mushkat of Lethbridge will be the speaker.

The opposition speaker will be given an opportunity to stage the anti-temperance ideas.

A large number of Frankites journeyed to Coleman, last night, to hear the debate, and practically all of them declare that Mr. Fisher fell down. The man who can bring out points in favor of the liquor traffic must be a clever man and does not need a very able opponent to be defeated.

Canadian Red Cross

A group of wounded Canadian soldiers attached to various Canadian regiments have sent a joint letter to the Canadian Red Cross expressing their thanks for "your ever vigilant attention to our comfort while on the battlefield, and the unbounded kindness extended to the wounded and afflicted who come under your care. Soldiers of all ranks are keen in their praises of the efficiency of the Canadian Red Cross."

In the hospitals back of the firing line there are terrible realities which we who sit at home shrink from bringing too forcibly to our imaginations. The announcement of a thousand casualties for the most part gives us only a mathematical idea. We do not see a thousand mangled bodies or a thousand bleeding men writhing in the most intense physical anguish. In short we do not feel the horror, carnage and misery of war. We do not feel it because no one but an eye witness can appreciate the ruthlessness of the conditions which the Red Cross, with means often pitifully inadequate, is striving heroically to remedy. But no matter how many miles we are from the trenches, the cry of the wounded still can pierce our hearts, and we can recognize that no one needs successfully as a wounded man.

The Red Cross is the most deserving of all relief funds for the reason that it deals with the wounded. There are dozens of good organizations, but the wounded soldier with his body shattered deserves help even more than a refugee driven from home and home. Generous as has been the public response to the Canadian Red Cross appeal for funds, the charitable would be even more charitable if they fully realized the plight of the sick and wounded. In a cause like this no generosity can be to great, and no giving can be reckless. The Red Cross need is endless because pain and anguish are endless.

A resolution has recently been passed by the Executive Committee of the British Red Cross to the effect that "The British Red Cross Society appreciates the valuable work which has been achieved by the Canadian Red Cross Hospital opened at Cliveden." The Committee also congratulates Colonel Hodgkiss, Canadian Commissioner, on the perfection which has been attained in this hospital.

A prohibition rally will be held at the Blaimore Opera House on Sunday next at 8:30 p. m., to be addressed by Miss Mushkat, of Lethbridge. Subject: "The Liquor Act and Labor."

Personal Liberty

By E. L. Nix

We hear a lot of talk these days about personal liberty.

And I am one of just that sort. Who think men should be free.

There's wife she cries and makes a fuss because I'm out of night.

Forgetting that we men love booze, and that we must have rights.

These temperance cranks forever talk of harm that's done by drink.

But of the pleasure that it gives, they never stop to think.

There's wife she ran away and hid when I came home last night.

I should have had her tender care for I'd been in a flut.

They say we can't afford the booze, but now, twist you and me,

What does it matter just so long as we have liberty?

My wife she says to make it up, I'll tell you what I think.

So I don't have to rack my brain about how we'll pay.

Now, think how dreadful, if it comes, the time they say is near.

When we poor working men must think for even a glass of beer!

Our wives they talk of women's rights, but care we not, what comes or goes if we're liberty and free!

Our liberties are now too great, with votes, they'd take our drink.

So let me keep my liberty, the revenue we'll pay.

What if we're not prepared for war? I'll have to ston some day!

They say our children will be cursed and accidents will come.

But care we not, what comes or goes if we're liberty and free!

We've liberty and fun! Edmonton, July 5.

We can stand a lot in Alberta. We are not narrow. We believe in fair play and give it. We recognize that the anti-prohibitionists have a perfect right to be heard, and we listen to them, but when they import pro-German Chicago editors to do the talking, what should loyal people do?—Albion.

Lance-Corporal Walter James Howe had evidently been wounded either prior to or immediately on reaching the base. His mother received a letter from him this morning dated June 26th, in which he stated he was suffering slightly in the back, and that the doctors thought his spine was bent, but he was then ready to leave for the base. The message to Mrs. Howe from Ottawa states that he was again slightly wounded and had been withdrawn and sent over to Scotland.

"I have had five years' experience as a teacher in the public schools of Calgary and I have found many dullards in my classes. The careful investigations I have made into the causes of their mental condition has revealed two reasons—that some of them were victims of poverty, and had not been properly nourished; that others—many others—were the victims of the alcoholic habits of their parents." This is a statement made by Miss Mushkat, the Socialist leader in Alberta, who will be heard in the Blaimore opera house on Sunday afternoon next.

Ballot For Vote On Prohibition Confusing

Five days from today more than 100,000 men in the province of Alberta will have an opportunity to go to the polls and vote upon the legislation advanced for the purpose of wiping out the retailing and wholesaling of spirituous and fermented liquors.

Under the supervision of the various returning officers enumerators are at work in every section of the province making up the new lists of voters which will be used. The lists when fully compiled will carry over 140,000 names. In the last provincial general election held April 17, 1912, there were more than 90,000 votes cast and parties to both sides of the present campaign are predicting that just as many people will mark their ballots on July 21.

The form of the ballot has caused much controversy and many protests from the "dry" forces, but John D. Hunt, clerk of the executive council of the government, points out that under the law he has no alternative. The ballot will read:

"Are you in favor of the proposed act—the liquor act?"

Behind this question will be two spaces, one marked "yes" and the other "no." A cross in one of the spaces will indicate the vote.

The trouble with the ballot lies in the nature of the question. Resolved down into a simple question it is perplexing. The present voter will have very definite convictions in either direction but who has not followed the public campaign closely is likely to be deceived. Ask the average prohibition advocate if he favors "the liquor act" and the chances are nine out of ten that his answer will be an emphatic "no!" As a matter of fact he does favor this liquor act if he wants prohibition to come into force. The error has been in drafting the title of the bill for the bill to wipe out bars and wholesalers is entitled "the liquor act."

The direct legislation act, under which the vote is being brought, specifically provides the form of ballot. It must say: "Vote for or against the proposed act, and follow this query with the name of the act. Hence the present muddle. The cardinal fact of both sides to remember is that "the liquor act" is the prohibition bill, and those who want prohibition to come into force are in favor of the bill being carried out under the direct legislation act must, by statute, be conducted according to the Alberta election act, the same as a provincial election to choose members for the legislature. This means that every constituency is a separate entity.

To vote, a man must be a British subject controlling the patronage in the different provincial constituencies. Then, as we supposed, when completed, to carry the name of every British subject who has resided in the province for one year and in the district in which he desires to vote for three months immediately prior to the date of the election. Under the existing law the subject must, of course, be a male, and 21 years of age or more.

As in the case of a provincial or federal election any person entitled to vote, whose name does not appear on the list, is at liberty to go to the poll nearest his place of residence and demand a ballot.

His right to vote may be challenged by either the deputy returning officer or the scrutineers for the "wet" or "dry" forces. In that event he has simply to make a declaration under oath as to his right to vote and the ballot will be given him. It may be deposited in the box direct or into an envelope and then into the box.

In the latter circumstances the validity of the ballot will be decided by a select judge when a recount is held.

In the matter of polling, the regulations conform almost entirely with those used in a general provincial election. A deputy returning officer will be in charge of each poll, with a poll clerk under him. Advocates and opponents of the proposed legislation will each have the right to a scrutineer inside and outside of each poll. The inside scrutineers have the power to challenge the vote of any applicant for a ballot paper and upon demand may cause him to take the usual declarations as to his bona fides.

In rural districts and towns the polls will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the afternoon of July 21.

In the cities the polls will open at 8 o'clock and close at 6 o'clock. Ballot boxes for the election have already been dispatched to all outside points and those for the cities will be distributed within a few days.

The Telephone Girl

In memory of the Blaimore telephone girl away on a holiday:

Just a word for the telephone girl, who has been away on a holiday.

Through all of the day's busy whirl, attending politely to his.

Although we may frequently carp because of a moment's delay, she seldom gets fretful or sharp.

But placidly keeps on her way, through perils she sticks to her post.

And notifies others to fly, a good deal more polite than most.

A notable person is she.

TAKING COLLEGE GRADUATES TO THE WEST

OLD ONTARIO SETS GOOD EXAMPLE TO THE WEST

By Introducing a System of District Representatives, the Ontario Department of Agriculture, has shown some remarkable results in the increase of Land Values

The wisdom of the Ontario government in introducing the system of district representatives of the department of agriculture has been shown by the results that already have followed them. In 1907 six graduates of the Ontario Agricultural College were given local offices in six counties. Their work met with much favor that the people themselves demanded increases in their appointments, until today they number 41, covering practically the whole province from Glengarry to Rainy River.

By this means the benefits of the colleges and the results of the extension of farm knowledge have been applied to the farms in such a way as to favorably influence production and improve economic conditions.

The agricultural portfolio should be in the hands of a man of business, a man who would be able to put it more in touch with progressive agriculture.

His education should lead in the development of ideas and in the encouragement of greater farm production. He should be able to follow Ontario's example where such substantial results have been made.

This is a matter in which the farmer and all business men are interested quite as much as the farmer.

There are now about 1,000 young farmers between 18 and 30 years, and they are enjoying the position.

And their works have justified their faith. Drainage surveys are being made free. Any farmer can get a special drainage plan with the best expert advice as how best to handle his fields.

In Prince Edward county five canals have been done each year since 1911, while over 20 miles of the drainage has been done each year since 1911, while over 20 miles of the drainage has been done each year since 1911.

One instance a field that cost $15 per acre to drain, yielded $600 in canning factory supplies.

Basey county, one of the first to get a representative, has made Canadian corn farmers a record of 150 bushels per acre, while in the same market last year the same market returned $57 to the local farmers.

Perhaps no finer instance of farm enterprise exists than in the east of Scotland. In 1910 the county produced 1,100,000 bushels of potatoes, valued at $200,000.

These figures were made public in a government paper containing the correspondence between the British foreign office and the American ambassador regarding treatment of civilians.

The British government officials might well follow the example. Local conditions call for special study, and the results of the study should be made known in the western provinces, would prove interest in improved farming methods.

Not only might Manitoba profit by the wisdom shown by the Ontario department of agriculture, but the governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta might well follow the example. Local conditions call for special study, and the results of the study should be made known in the western provinces, would prove interest in improved farming methods.

The school boys and local young farmers clubs that have grown out of the movement are marks of the healthy rural life that has come to the old lands of Ontario.

The same rejuvenation that has come to the old lands of Ontario

Potatoes For Stock Feeding

The Value of the Potato as a Stock Food is Summed Up

Potatoes are an inferior feed for dairy cows, writes Prof. A. A. Borking of the Vermont experiment station in 1906, to determine the relative value of corn silage and potatoes. The latter were eaten even more freely than was the silage, yet produced neither more nor better milk. At 15 cents a bushel they were about equal for stock than was silage. The latter made from the silage containing large amounts of potatoes was a poor quality, tended to be salty and did not keep well.

Potatoes were best adapted to hog feeding. In order to secure the best results, the potatoes should be cooked so as to be mealy, and be mixed with corn or other ground grains to form a rather heavy mash. In this form they are relished by the swine.

Swine will make valuable additions to feed with this mixture of cooked potatoes and corn. Potatoes alone should not be fed to advantage, as they can be eaten by the hogs in any quantity.

Work Conditions After the War

Tremendous Economic Problems That Must Be Solved

One of the economic questions to which a great deal of attention is being paid by the British government is that of preparing to assimilate into industry the hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of demobilized soldiers and sailors.

THE FIGHT TO THE FINISH

THE VICTORS WILL LAY DOWN THE CONDITIONS

Unlike Many of the Past Great Struggles, the Principles that are Being Contended for now do not Admit of a Compromise as it is Victory or Annihilation

In the past fifty years there has been really only one fight to a finish among the nations. That fight was the war between France and Prussia.

Only then was the victor able to dictate his own terms of peace. It was a case of two brawling nations, and after long discussion arriving at a compromise satisfactory to both.

The victor will lay down his conditions. If they are not accepted the armistice which precedes any formal discussion of terms will be brought to an end and the fight will continue.

There is not more than one man in a hundred who looks forward to a compromise. The principles that are being contended for do not admit of compromise.

The victor will lay down his conditions. If they are not accepted the armistice which precedes any formal discussion of terms will be brought to an end and the fight will continue.

Tainted With Stealing

In Midst of Patriotic Efforts, Scandal Follows Scandal, Declares Toronto Pastor

"It is a majority of our people are really Christian, it ought to be shown to our government that we are patriotic, and our professions. Yet right at this moment in the most sacred of patriotic efforts to raise money for the war, we are being tainted with stealing."

The speaker was Rev. H. H. Stauffer, pastor of the Methodist church in Toronto, speaking on "Patriotic Hands and Ours."

"When can you say you have washed your hands of political scandal? There is scarcely an item of our war supplies that is not tainted with stealing. Are you saying anything about it? Or do you only know one voice about politics and that is to vote, Gift or Torry?"

"A tremendous responsibility rests upon the leaders of the Orange lodge, the life city. They can organize the Tammanyizing of Toronto. They can help to crush out corruption in the city hall. Will they rise to the occasion?"

"It is absolutely idle for our Christian people to call Christ 'Lord, Lord,' in our beautiful churches, and not do the things which He says. Our political leaders are the members of the Christian church. For us to go to church and not care for the things of God, is not a Christian over our political corruptions is to wash our hands of the things of God."

Occasionally, it is necessary to attach the wire to trees. In doing this, it is a good practice to practice to attach the wire directly to the trees, thus ensuring that the wire will be some overgrown and not in the wood. Not only is the wire thereby ruined or injured, but, further, it is impossible to remove the fencing without cutting either the wire or the tree.

A better way of protecting both the tree and the fence, is first to nail to the tree a strip of wood about four inches wide and of sufficient length to suit the height of the fence. The wire can then be stapled to this strip.

A little girl, when asked by her teacher to distinguish between a human and a non-human animal, replied: "A brute is an imperfect beast; man is a perfect one."

Experiments with Alfalfa

The Best Rates of Seeding Under Certain Conditions

Only by systematic experimentation can the best rates of seeding be determined. The Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station has been making such experiments for several years to determine the best rates of seeding and have found that the best rate is 15 to 20 cents a bushel for feeding purposes, and if succulence were desired, the rate might reach eight cents equivalent to a valuation of 25 cents a bushel.

We must advise the public to be aware of those stores who do not advertise. The publication of an advertisement is a sign of respectability, of honest methods and fair dealing as well as the owner's belief in his own goods. The advertiser is a business man who expresses his faith in his community and his business. He has something to tell you and must back up his printed statements. A customer need never fear being robbed or fleeced in the store of the man who constantly uses printer's ink, and is inviting your trade by a description of his goods and a quotation of the prices at which they are offered. He is seeking and deserves the confidence of the public.

On obtaining permission from the landlord, a large sign board was erected this week on the vacant lot at the corner of Seventh Avenue and Victoria Street, and was being used as a bulletin board by the prohibitionists. After standing about twelve hours it was torn down by a number of men influenced by representatives of the liquor traffic. The act is deserving of every condemnation and will no doubt be remembered on election day. Such actions will never tend to help promote the anti-prohibition cause, but on the contrary will give many a just reason for supporting the prohibition movement. As this sign board was strictly private property, it is very likely that some prosecutions will follow and those responsible may be brought to justice.

WHO AM I?

1. I was born of Hysteria—my heart is cruel—my eyes are blind to justice. I glory in jails. Intimidation is my best friend.
2. I dethrone reason, but have no brains. I breed hatred, strife and bitterness where peace and friendship should reign.
3. You find my brethren in many small towns, but never in large cities, and where we are there is always trouble.
4. I make a great noise but never tell the truth. My tongue is dipped in gall. I take much but give nothing in return but deception, fraud and failure.
5. When I speak, Fanaticism is glad, Oppression shouts for joy and Freedom weeps.
6. I feed upon false statistics, garnished by imagination and seasoned with hypocrisy.
7. I cause bankruptcy and devour the substance of others wherever I go.
8. I have turned ministers of the gospel from true laborers into the crooked paths of politics, greatly impairing their influence with the masses.
9. I weaken the weak and destroy the strong. I promote terrorism with a policeman's club.
10. I breed sneaks, liars, hypocrites and petty criminals. The bootlegger is my darling offspring. This is why I prefer him to the legitimate hotel-keeper.
11. I rob the province of revenue. I increase the taxes I deprive real estate owners of rents. I am a friend of the mail order business.
12. I AM THE PROPOSED LIQUOR ACT.

On July 21st maintain your rights, protect your property, and keep Alberta prosperous by marking your ballot thus:
